 Whenever You’re Ready to Vanpool, Vanpool with Care

- Reduce the number of people in the vanpool to allow for distancing between riders and drivers.
- Stagger where riders sit to allow for maximum distancing between driver and riders.
- Avoid physical contact with other passengers when entering and exiting and vehicle and maintain distance inside the vehicle.
- Clean and disinfect vehicle surfaces between trips: door handles (inside and out), steering wheel, armrests, seatbelt/seat-belt buckles, seats, and knobs (including climate control, radio, glove box, etc.).
- Wear a cloth mask that covers your nose and mouth and request your carpool partner wear one as well.
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth with unwashed hands or while wearing gloves.
- Wash your hands often and use hand sanitizer that contains at least 70% isopropanol.
- Keep the windows open if possible when traveling to increase airflow.
- Find a consistent vanpool group to limit the number of people with whom you interact, Merge is ideal for finding a vanpool.
- Stay home if you have any one of the symptoms identified by the CDC.
